

INDEX

- abhuman 105, 107, 114, 141–142
- abortion
 nineteenth century 25–30
 twentieth century 32–33
 end of debate on? 199–203
 grounds for 32–33, 202
 legal contexts 152–154
 legal protections of the unborn 4
 pre-nineteenth century 21–25
- Abortion Act 1967
- ectogenesis 201
- epigenesis 29–30
- grounds for abortion 32–33, 202
- introduction of 31–32
- ‘special status’ 44–45
- actors
 donors’ wishes 173–175, 183
 embryonic pathways 158–162
 intent 166–167, 201
- admixed embryos 154–155
- artificial womb technologies (AWTs) 9, 178–179, 191–203
 assisted reproduction
 artificial womb technologies 9, 178–179, 191–203
 morality 38–39
 relationality 173–175
in vitro fertilisation 1, 38–41
in vitro gametogenesis 9, 186–191
- ‘becoming’ 141–142, 159, 166
- biological growth
 gestation 198, 201
 historical context 22–23
 preformation theory 20–21
see also processual quality of the embryo
- birth, meaning of 193–199
- Blackstone, William 23–24
- boundaries
 ‘becoming’ 141–142
 context-based approach 163–165
 gothic fiction 102–103
 legal uncertainty 82–94
 liminality 139–141
 ‘othering’ 103–106
 subject/object 89, 91–92, 93, 135–136, 146, 161
 boundary work 92–94, 160
Bourne see R v. Bourne Bratton, Henry of 21–25 Bratton, Henry (also known as Henry of Bratton) 21–25
 Brown, Louise 1, 38–41
- cell nuclear replacement (CNR) 56–60
- cloning see human cloning
- Coke, Edward, Sir 22
- common law
 nineteenth century 28–29
 twentieth century 30–33
 artificial womb technologies 193–195
 legal protections of the unborn 4
 pre-nineteenth century 21–25
- Congenital Disabilities (Civil Liability)
 Act 1976 33
- context-based approach aims of 166–167
 artificial womb technologies 9, 191–203
 defining embryos 58–59, 66, 149, 163–165, 168–169
 dimensions of 165–166
 embryo regulation 9
 as framework 162–163, 179
 future considerations 206–207

- implications of 9
- ‘legal gap’ 162, 169–176
- legal pathways 151–152
- liminality 149, 152–162, 176–177
- questions raised by 203–205
- in vitro* gametogenesis 9, 186–191
- cyborgs 89–92, 160

- danger to life 31–32
- definition of an embryo see embryos, defining
- disability literature 129–130
- donors 173–175, 183
- dual reproductive identity, embryos 163–164

- ectogenesis 178–179, 191–203
- embryo disposal (for research) 38–39, 48, 128
- embryo formatus* 19–21
- embryo freezing see frozen embryos
- embryo in utero, terminology 18–19
- embryo in vitro, terminology 18–19
- embryo informatus* 19–21
- embryo regulation
 - twentieth century 30–33
 - context-based approach 9
 - current legal context 3
 - future context 38–41
 - gothic framing 7–8
 - historical context 5–7, 19–30
 - law’s evolution 5, 17–19
 - as moral benchmark 41–47
 - pathways for regulation 13
 - post-Warnock conceptions of the embryo 47–49
 - ‘special status’ of embryos 6, 41–47
 - treatment of the embryo 12, 15
- embryonic categories 152–158
- embryonic evolution 2–3
 - see also* processual quality of the embryo
- embryonic pathways 152–158, 169–170
- embryonic stem cells 62
- embryos
 - clarifications in nature, source, and extent 79–82
 - context-based approach 58–59, 66, 149, 163–165, 168–169
 - as cyborgs 89–92
 - first historical references 22–23, 34
 - legal boundaries 82–94, 163–165
 - legal status 10–11
 - liminality 123–136, 159–160
 - moral status 10–11, 12
 - as processual entity 11–12, 13
 - reproductive and research contexts 152–158
 - ‘special status’ 6, 10–11
 - teleology of 1, 126–129
 - treatment of 12, 15
 - see also* embryos, defining; research using embryos
- embryos, defining
 - based on Quintavalle (2001–2003) 60–66
 - changing boundaries 82–94
 - context-based approach 168–169
 - disparity in use of terms 9–10
 - evolution in the law 18–19, 28–29
 - Human Fertilisation and Embryology Act 1990 50–51, 66–67, 168–169
- epigenesis 20–21, 29–30
- epistemology 159
- ethics
 - scientific advances in use of embryos 38–41
 - in vitro* gametogenesis 188–190
 - see also* morality
 - European Court of Human Rights (ECHR) 4, 200–201
- family structures 188–190
- feedback loops, regulation 131, 133
- female body
 - dissociation of embryos from women 107–110
 - physical placement of embryos 111–112
- fertilisation
 - cell nuclear replacement 56–60
 - defining embryos 51

- fertility services 188–189
 fetuses, defining 18–19
 fiction, gothic themes 101–103
 fourteen-day rule
 defining embryos 168–169
 frozen embryos 130–131
 introduction of 52–53
 liminality and law reform 145–146
 permanent liminality 155
 recent scientific advances 179–180
 revisiting the rule 180–186
 ‘special status’ of embryos 80–81,
 178–179
Frankenstein 101, 110
 frozen embryos
 fourteen-day rule 183
 Human Fertilisation and Embryology Act 1990 51–52
 legal position 4
 permanent liminality 130–131
 gametogenesis 178–179, 186–191
 gastrulation 43–44
 genetic parents, rights of 199–203
 gestation 198, 201
 gothic fiction 101–103, 141
 gothic framing
 book structure 7
 embryo regulation 7–8
 ‘legal gap’ 4–5, 7–8, 97, 114–115, 169 lessons from 112–116
 liminality 112–116, 129–132, 136–137, 145–146
 marginalisation 137–139
 otherness of embryos 106–112
 gothic self accounts of the postmodern ‘Other’ 103–106
 as concept 99–100
 and the liberal self 105–106
 liminality 129–130
 literary birth 101–103
 monstrosity 99–100, 101–103
 postmodernism 100–101
 gradualist approach 44–45
 historical context
 nineteenth century 25–30
 twentieth century 30–33
 early Christian religious philosophy 19–21
 first child born through IVF 1
 law’s evolution 17–19
 pre-nineteenth century 21–25
 processuality of law 33–36
 House of Commons Science and Technology Committee (HCSTC) 60–66
 human cloning
 cell nuclear replacement 56–60
 Human Fertilisation and Embryology
 Act 1990 53
 regulation of embryos 154–155
 reproductive vs. therapeutic 58–59, 80–81
 Human Fertilisation and Embryology
 Act 1990
 amendments 66–69
 defining embryos 50–51, 66–67, 168–169
 influence of 1–2
 ‘legal gap’ 6, 95
 liminality 4, 206–207
 processuality of law 37
 provisions and implementation 49–56
 reforms proposed 75–79
 Warnock Report’s influence 10–11,
 41–47, 74–76
 Human Fertilisation and Embryology
 Act 2008
 amending the 1990 Act 66–69 nature, source, and extent of
 embryos 79–82
 Human Fertilisation and Embryology
 Authority (HFEA) 40–41, 57, 60–66, 86–87, 130–131
 Human Fertilisation and Embryology
 (Mitochondrial Donation)
 Regulations 2015 69
 human life
 birth, meaning of 193–199
 early Christian religious philosophy 19–21

- legal boundaries 34
- legal history 18
- scientific advances in use of embryos 38–41
- ‘stages of’ 18
- Warnock Report 45
- Human Reproductive Cloning Act 2001 56–57, 61, 63
- hybrid embryos 154–155

- induced pluripotent stem cells (iPSCs) 186–191
- Infant Life Preservation Act 1929 30–31, 32, 33, 34–35
- initiation rites 118–123
- ‘intellectual gap’ see ‘legal gap’
- intent, context-based approach 166–167, 201

- legal boundaries
 - fourteen-day rule 183–185
 - embryos 82–94, 163–165
 - human life 34
- ‘legal boundedness’ 2–3
- legal definitions 63–64; see also under embryos
- ‘legal embryos’ 85, 207
- legal framework for embryos; see embryo regulation
- ‘legal gap’
 - closing the gap 169–176
 - context-based approach 162, 169–176
 - gothic framing 4–5, 7–8, 97, 114–115, 169
 - gothic self 100–101
 - Human Fertilisation and Embryology Act 1990 6, 95
 - legal boundedness 2–3
- legal personhood 193–199
- legal stasis
 - changing boundaries 82–94
 - clarifications in nature, source, and extent 79–82
 - embryo research 5–7
 - gothic framing 115–116
 - moving beyond 146
 - processuality of law 94–95
 - ‘special status’ of embryos 72–79
 - uncertainties 72–79, 94–96
 - see also* permanent liminality
- legal status
 - context-based understandings 58–59
 - embryos as unique category 70
 - as legal tool 78
 - liminality 197–198
 - and moral status 10–11
 - multiple statuses 37
 - pathways for regulation 13
 - reproductive and research contexts 152–158
 - ‘special status’ of embryos 6, 72–79
 - Warnock Report 38
- legal subjecthood 113–114
- life see human life
- liminal entities 2–3
- liminal law 132–136
- liminality 13
 - analytical framework 3–5
 - ‘becoming’ 141–142
 - book structure 5–9
 - between boundaries 139–141
 - context-based approach 149, 152–162, 176–177
 - donors 174–175
 - ectogenesis 196–201
 - embryos 123–136, 159–160
 - experiencing 142–144
 - feedback loops, regulation 131, 133
 - gothic framing 112–116, 129–132, 136–137, 145–146
 - legal framework 176–177
 - as lens 97–98, 117–118, 136–137
 - marginalisation 137–139
 - navigating through 144–147
 - purgatorial anxiety 124–125, 134–135, 139–140
 - relationality 142–144
 - rites of passage 118–123
 - schismogenesis 121–122, 155
 - ‘tricksters’ 121–123
 - see also* thresholds
- ‘liminality of things’ 135–136, 146
- literature, gothic fiction 101–103, 141
- Lord Ellenborough’s Act 1803 25–26

- marginalisation 137–139
 materiality 160
 medical futility 153
 medicalisation of pregnancy 28–29, 46–47
 mimesis 121–123, 133
 mitochondrial replacement therapy 69, 75
 monstrosity 99–100, 101–103, 138
see also gothic framing
 ‘the monstrous feminine’ 109–110
 moral status
 embryos 12
 gradualist approach 44–45
 and legal status 10–11
 liminality 197–198
see also human life
 morality
 assisted conception 38–39
 boundaries and the fourteen-day rule 183–185
 embryo disposal 38–39
 legislation as a benchmark 41–47
 uncertainties 171
 utilitarianism 44–45
 mother’s rights 152–154, 199–203

nasciturus principle 194–195
 neonatal intensive care 192–193

 Offences Against the Person Act
 1828 26
 Offences Against the Person Act 1837
 26–27
 Offences Against the Person Act 1861
 28, 31–32
 ontology 159
 ‘othering’
 ‘becoming’ 141–142
 gothic framing of embryos 4–5, 106–112
 marginalisation 137–139
 postmodernism and the gothic 103–106

 parental rights, abortion debate 199–203
partus formatus 25

 permanent liminality
 fourteen-day rule 155
 context-based approach 175
 in current law 8
 frozen embryos 127–128, 130–131
 gothic framing 129–130
 liminal law 132–136
 meaning of 121
 moving beyond 146
 purgatorial anxiety 139–140
 relationality 144
 teleology of embryos 127–128, 129–132
 person/subject 89
 personhood, significance of birth 193–199
 physiological visibility 32
 postmodernism
 embryos 4–5
 gothic framing 4–5
 ‘gothic’ framing 7
 gothic self 100–101
pre-partus formatus 25 ‘preformation’ theory 20–21, 29–30
 pregnancy
 context-based understandings 152–154
 danger to life 31–32
 medicalisation of 28–29, 46–47
 physical placement of embryos 111–112
 premonitions 111–112
 ‘quickening’ vs. preformation
 19–21
 ‘primitive streak’ 43–44,
 46–47
 privacy, right to 200–201
 pro-life movement
 fourteen-day rule 52–53
 post-Warnock conceptions of the
 embryo 47–49
 ‘process’, meaning of 11–12
 processual quality of the embryo ‘becoming’ 141–142
 embryonic evolution 2–3
 future considerations 203–206
 gestation 198
 historical context 22–23

- Human Fertilisation and Embryology Act 1990 50–51, 54–56
 legal boundaries 82–94
 liminality 118
 preformation theory 20–21
 ‘primitive streak’ 43–44, 46–47
 ‘quickening’ 19–31, 34–35
 uncertainties 69–70
 processuality of law
 application to embryos 13
 contemporary context 37
 distinction from progressive 19
 historical context 21–25, 33–36
 Human Fertilisation and Embryology Act 1990 37, 47
 legal stasis 94–95
 liminal law 132–136
 meaning of 12
 medicalisation of pregnancy
 28–29
 uncertainties 69–70
 Warnock Report’s legacy 74–76
 protections of the unborn birth, significance of 193–199
 evolution in the law 4
 gradualist approach 44–45
 historical context 25, 35–36
 Human Fertilisation and Embryology Act 1990 42–43
 post-Warnock conceptions of the
 embryo 47–49
 purgatorial anxiety 124–125, 134–135, 139–140
 ‘quickening’
 nineteenth century 25–30
 twentieth century 30–31, 34–35
 early Christian religious philosophy 19–21
 legal boundaries 88
 pre-nineteenth century 21–25
 ‘primitive streak’ 43–44, 46–47
Quintavalle (2001–2003)
 case details 56–60
 defining the embryo 60–66
 inflexibility of the law 135
R v. Bourne 31–33
 regulation see embryo regulation regulatory compression 131, 142–143
 regulatory purgatory 134, 139
 relationality
 abortion debate 201
 assisted reproduction and research 173–175
 ‘becoming’ 166
 liminality 142–144
 materiality 160
 reproductive cloning 58–59, 80–81
see also human cloning reproductive embryos 152–154, 155–158, 176, 183
 reproductive technologies see artificial womb technologies (AWTs);
in vitro fertilisation (IVF); in vitro
 gametogenesis (IVG)
 research artefacts 155, 164, 167, 172–173
 research embryos (in contrast to reproductive embryos) 154–158, 176, 183
 research using embryos
 donors’ wishes 173–175
 frozen embryos 51–52, 130–131
 gradualist approach 44–45
 law reform 73–74
 legal stasis 5–7
 liminality and law reform 145–146
 nature, source, and extent of
 embryos 79–82
 post-Warnock conceptions of the
 embryo 47–49
 recent scientific advances 179–180
 types of embryo 53
see also fourteen-day rule researchers as actors 158–162
 respect for the embryo 52, 73–74, 164–165, 197
 rites of passage 118–123
 schismogenesis 121–122, 155
 science, public view of 102–103 scientific research see research using
 embryos

- scientific research (cont.)
 Scotland, grounds for abortion 32–33
- selfhood
 legal subjecthood 113–114
 liberal vs. gothic 105–106
see also gothic self
- sexual intercourse, age of consent 180–181
- social considerations, protections of the unborn 35–36
 the soul, early Christian religious philosophy 19–21
- spare embryos 43–44, 110, 156, 168–169, 173–175
- ‘special status’ of embryos 14-day rule 80–81, 178–179 binary understanding 172–173 clarifications in nature, source, and extent 71–72, 79–82
 contemporary context 37
 context-based approach 152–162, 171–173
 embryos as unique category 70
 as fundamental principle 42–43, 81
 gothic framing 114–115
 Human Fertilisation and
 Embryology Act 1990 68–69
 Human Fertilisation and Embryology Act 2008 79–82
 legal boundaries 82–94
 legal framework 6
 legal stasis 72–79
 liminal law 133
 liminality 118
 moral and legal status 10–11
 multiple statuses 37
 Warnock Report 41–47, 68–69
- stem cell research (SCR) defining terms 77–78
 donors’ wishes 173–175
 induced pluripotent stem cells 186–191
 teleology of embryos 126–127
- stethoscopes, invention of 27
- stillbirth 194
- subject and object, legal distinction 89, 91–92, 93, 135–136, 146, 161
- subjecthood
 experiencing liminality 142–144
 legal 113–114
- technical visibility 32
- technology
 context-based approach 9
 gothic framing 110–111
 legal boundaries 91–92
- teleology of embryos
 context-based approach 156, 166–167, 175–176
 do embryos have a ‘telos’? 126–129
 embryonic pathways 152–158, 169–170
 influence of technology 1
 intent 166–167
- termination see abortion
- therapeutic cloning 58–59, 80–81
see also human cloning
- thing/object 89
- thresholds
 fourteen-day rule revisited 182–185
 age of consent for sexual intercourse 180–181
 artificial womb technologies (AWTs) 191–203
 future considerations 204
in vitro gametogenesis (IVG)
 186–191
see also liminality
- ‘tricksters’ 121–123
- ultrasound, invention of 32
- Unborn Children (Protection) Bill 1985 47–49
 ‘the uncanny’ 103–105, 106–107, 139–140
see also gothic framing
- uncertainty in the law 69–70, 94–96
 future considerations 206–207
 legal boundaries 82–94
 ‘legal gap’ 95, 171
 liminal law 132–136
 liminality 176–177
- utilitarianism 44–45

- van Gennep, Arnold 3–4, 5, 8, 12, 119–120
- viability, twentieth-century law 30–31
- visibility
 twentieth-century 35–36
 historical context 32, 33–34
in vitro fertilisation (IVF) 1, 38–41
in vitro gametogenesis (IVG) 9, 186–191
- Warnock Report
 fourteen-day rule 52–53
 Human Fertilisation and Embryology Act 1990 as influenced by 10–11, 41–47, 74–76 legacy 74–76
 moral issues and regulating for the future 38–41
- post-Warnock conceptions of the embryo 47–49
 publishing of 38
 respect for the embryo 52, 164–165, 197
 ‘special status’ of embryos 10–11, 41–47, 68–69
 the womb
 artificial womb technologies 9, 178–179, 191–203
 dissociation of embryos from women 107–110
 implantation 67–68
 physical placement of embryos 111–112
- women see female body; mother’s rights
- zygotes 84