   1. Which sentences are about a situation that is permanent or a fact?
   2. Which sentences are about everyday habits?
   3. Which sentence is about an action happening at the moment of speaking?
   4. Which sentences are about a temporary situation?
1 Present simple

We use the present simple to talk about regular habits or repeated actions:

- I get up really early and practise for an hour or so most days.
- I use my phone just about every day.

Words that describe how often or when are often used (e.g. always, generally, normally, usually, often, sometimes, rarely, never, every day, every evening).

- to talk about permanent situations:
  - My parents own a restaurant.

We use the present perfect, not the present simple, to say how long something has continued:

- I have worked there since I was 15. (not I work there since I was 15: see Unit 3)

- to talk about facts or generally accepted truths:
  - Students don't generally have much money.
  - If you heat water to 100°C, it boils. (see Unit 17)

The following words are often used: generally, mainly, normally, usually, traditionally.

- to give instructions and directions:
  - You go down to the traffic lights, then you turn left.
  - To start the program, first you click on the icon on the desktop.

- to tell stories and talk about films, books and plays:
  - In the film, the tea lady falls in love with the Prime Minister.

2 Present continuous

We use the present continuous to talk about temporary situations:

- I'm studying really hard for my exams.
- My cousin is living in Thailand at the moment. (= he doesn't normally live there)

Words like at the moment, currently, now, this week/month/year are often used.

- to talk about actions happening at the moment of speaking:
  - I'm waiting for my friends.
Present tenses

3 Present tenses

♦ to talk about trends or changing situations:
  Social media is making it so much easier for people to stay in touch with each other.
  The price of petrol is rising dramatically.

♦ to talk about things that happen more often than expected, often to show envy or to criticise with words like always, constantly, continually, forever:
  My mum’s always saying I don’t help enough! (complaint)
  He’s always visiting exciting places! (envy)

3 State verbs

The present continuous is not normally used with state verbs because the meaning of the verb itself is a general truth rather than something temporary. These verbs specify thoughts, feelings, senses, possession and description.

Here are some examples of state verbs.

♦ thoughts: agree, assume, believe, disagree, forget, hope, know, regret, remember, suppose, think, understand
  I assume you’re too busy to play computer games.

♦ feelings: adore, despise, dislike, enjoy, feel, hate, like, love, mind, prefer, want
  Do you mind if I ask you a few questions?
  I love music.

♦ senses: feel, hear, see, smell, taste
  This pudding smells delicious.
  To talk about something happening now we use can:
  I can smell something burning.

♦ possession: belong, have, own
  My parents own a restaurant.

  You look like your mother. (= a permanent situation, not a temporary one)
  Some state verbs can be used in the continuous form when the meaning is temporary. Compare:
  What are you thinking about? (now)
  I think you should tell her exactly what happened. (my opinion, so not temporary)

  I’m tasting the sauce to see if it needs any more salt.
  The sauce tastes delicious.

  She’s having a great time. (is having = is experiencing, not possession)
  Students don’t generally have much money. (have = possession)

We 1 use energy for three main things: electricity production, heating and transport. For the first two, we 2 have options such as solar and wind power, or natural gas. But oil is still the world’s number one source of energy, and for transport at least, the alternatives are still expensive. In China, domestic energy consumption 3 goes up year by year and demand in similar regions 4 goes up fast. We 5 need to find ways to use energy more efficiently now than in the past but the worldwide rise in demand and the rate of global warming 6 causes great concern amongst experts. Some scientists 7 think that the climate crisis is so serious that we are already too late to save the planet. However, most experts 8 agree that it is essential to increase the use of renewable energy if we have any chance of reducing the rate of global warming.
