

Contents

	Acknowledgments	page ix
	Introduction	1
1	Framing the Issue	9
	1.1 Of Minds and Intellects	9
	1.2 The Method of Inquiry	11
	1.3 Self-Reflection: A Working Profile	13
	1.4 The Direction of the Inquiry	22
	PART I THE ARCHITECTURE	25
2	Basic Resources	27
	2.1 The Executive Angle: Working Offline	27
	2.2 Managing Our Own Mental States	34
	2.3 Autobiographical Memory	45
3	With Self in Mind	56
	3.1 Senses of Selves	56
	3.2 The Missing Sense of Me	64
	3.3 A Projective Sense of Me	67
	PART II THE EVOLUTION	73
4	An Evolutionary Paradigm	75
	4.1 Evolutionary Puzzles	75
	4.2 The Versatile Genome	80
	4.3 The Improvisational Brain	83
	4.4 Developmental Evolution	86

viii CONTENTS

5	Reasons for Self-Reflection	95
5.1	Standard Explanations	95
5.2	Clues from Memory	101
5.3	Cultural Sociopolitics	104
5.4	Sociocultural Self-Regulation	109
6	Scaffolding Self-Reflection	113
6.1	Scaffolding	114
6.2	Self-Strategizing	115
6.3	Conscience	130
7	A Public Sense of Me	136
7.1	The Public Construction	136
7.2	Outside Perspectives Internalized	144
7.3	A Public Understanding of Our Own Minds	159
8	Questions and Answers	172
	Glossary	189
	References	193
	Index	203