

CONTENTS

Acknowledgments	viii
Introduction	1
1 The Eternal Return of Not Quite the Same: Repetition and the Sources of International Law	14
Introduction	14
1.1 Recollection in Cyclical Societies	16
1.2 Sources, Recollection and Repetition	21
1.2.1 Sources as a Secular List	21
1.2.2 Sources and Contingency	23
1.3 Sources, Sky-Gods and Demiurges	29
1.3.1 The Intangible Foundations of International Law: The Example of the Social Thesis	29
1.3.2 The Intangible Foundation of International Law: The Example of Consent	32
1.3.3 Sources as Placeholders: Unilateral Acts by International Organizations	34
1.3.4 Sources as Placeholders: Unilateral Acts by States	37
Conclusion	40
2 The Law of Receding Origins: Repetition and the Identification of Customary International Law	42
Introduction	42
2.1 Time and Repetition in Waiting for Godot	44
2.2 Customary Law as Restatement	47
2.2.1 Custom in Article 38	47
2.2.2 The Dialectics of Repetition in the Historical School	51
2.2.3 Contemporary Conceptions of Customary Law	54
2.3 Restating Restatements: the 2018 ILC Draft Conclusions	59
2.3.1 Codification, Development and Repetition	60
2.3.2 Restatementing Restatements	61
2.3.3 The Restatement Chain	65
Conclusion	71

- 3 “Once Upon a Time, There Was a Story That Began”:
 Repetition In Security Council Resolutions 72
 Introduction 72
 3.1 Decision, Beginning and Absence 75
 3.2 Beginning and Authority 79
 3.3 To Walk Before, To Talk Again 83
 3.4 Beginning Again: the Example of Resolution 1373 87
 Conclusion 93
- 4 Say That Again, Please: Repetition in the Tallinn
 Manual 95
 Introduction 95
 4.1 Absence and the Manual 98
 4.2 Restating and Absence 102
 4.3 Reproducing the Form: the Tallinn Manual as “Manual” 108
 4.3.1 Reproducing Tradition 108
 4.3.2 Restatements as Products: Comparing the Tallinn
 Manual to Consumer Manuals 109
 4.3.3 Restatements and Identity: Manuals of Manners and Etiquette 111
 Conclusion 113
- 5 Rehearsing Rehearsing: Repetition in International
 Moot Court Competitions 115
 Introduction 115
 5.1 “A Life Changing Experience” 117
 5.1.1 Moot Courts and Theater 117
 5.1.2 Puzzles and Problems 118
 5.2 Two Traditions of Rehearsing 122
 5.2.1 Rehearsing as Imitation 122
 5.2.2 Rehearsing as Experimentation 125
 5.3 Recollection, Repetition and Experimenting 127
 5.3.1 Recollection and Repetition 127
 5.3.2 Experimental Moot Courts 130
 Conclusion 133
- 6 The Unimaginable on Screen: Repetition in Documentary Films on Trauma and Atrocities 135
 Introduction 135
 6.1 Unimaginable and Codified Atrocities 138
 6.2 Reenactments in Documentary Film 142
 6.2.1 The Problem of Excess and Reenactments 142

CONTENTS

vii

6.2.2	Reenactments in Documentary Film	144
6.2.3	Different Forms of Reenactment	146
6.3	Reenacting Loss	151
6.3.1	Shoah	152
6.3.2	S-21 and The Missing Picture	156
	Conclusion	161
	The End	163
	Bibliography	168
	Index	182