Contents

List of Illustrations [page vii]
List of Tables [x]
Preface [xi]
Sources, Transcriptions, and Translations [xxi]
Money, Accounts, Measurements, Dates, and Time [xxiv]
List of Abbreviations [xxix]

1 Euridice in Context [1]
The Marriage Negotiations [6]
The 1600 Festivities [15]
Two Invoices and an Inventory [22]
The Performance of “A Comedy by Signor Jacopo Corsi” (Spring 1600) [37]
The Performance of Euridice on 6 October 1600 [54]

2 Staging and Sets [64]
Some Theoretical and Other Sources [67]
The Sala delle Statue and Sala delle Commedie [80]
The Framing of the Stage [86]
The Proscenium [88]
The Stage Platform (and Below) [98]
The “Sky” [104]
The Pastoral Set [107]
The Underworld Set [113]
Stage Lighting [123]
The Main Floor [126]

3 Euridice in Performance [130]
The Performers [139]
From Page to Stage [145]
“Speaking” and “Singing” [163]
Costumes, Movement, Gesture [176]
Reading Euridice [187]

4 Conclusions and Consequences [198]
Later Entertainments in the Sala delle Commedie [198]
Euridice Today [208]
Appendix I: Documents [217]
A Lodovico Cigoli’s Invoice for Designing and Painting the Stage and Scenery for Euridice [217]
B Gianbattista Cresci’s Inventory of Materials for Euridice [221]
C Francesco Ricoveri’s Invoice for Sewing Canvas, etc. for Euridice [227]

Works Cited [229]
Index [242]

1 Appendix II (a critical edition of Ottavio Rinuccini’s libretto for Euridice) is located on the Companion Website at www.cambridge.org/9781316515402.