

Contents

List of Figures	page viii
List of Tables	ix
Acknowledgements	x
Notes	xii
List of Abbreviations	xiii
Introduction: Pen over Plough	i
1 Rethinking Agricultural Books, Knowledge and Labour	36
2 Learning without Books: The Mystery of Husbandry	60
3 Standing on the Shoulders of Peasants: The Appropriation of the Art of Husbandry	89
4 Learning without Labour: Codification and Managerial Knowledge	122
5 Dividing Head and Hand: Gentleman Farmers, Agriculturists and Expertise	170
6 Monopolising Knowledge: Professionalisation, Education and Stewards	205
7 The Master Should Know More: Book-Farming, Power and Resistance	229
Conclusion: New Histories of Knowledge	263
Appendix	276
Bibliography	294
Index	326