PREFACE

THIS BIBLIOGRAPHY represents the beginning of a task which the Modern Humanities Research Association hopes in time to accomplish—that of providing modern language scholars and students with adequate and up-to-date bibliographies year by year. For the first year it was thought best to limit the field, and the present pamphlet therefore represents only work published on English language and literature during the year 1920. The countries represented in it are as follows: Australia, British Isles, Canada, Czecho-Slovakia, Denmark, France, Germany, Holland, India, Italy, Portugal, Rumania, Serbia, Spain (including works in Catalan), Sweden, Switzerland, and the United States of America. Both books and articles are included in the list; the aim has been to include all serious contributions to the subject, and the task of selection has generally been left to the local compiler. From time to time however expert opinion has been called in as to the merits of any book or article. All works not published during the year 1920 are excluded, and a supplement will be published in the Association's Bulletin for July 1921, containing any titles which arrived too late for inclusion.

The organisation of such work as this is not easy, and it so happens that the unusual pressure of University work upon the principal compilers has made it impossible to prepare this pamphlet with the care which it is hoped to give to its successors. We print on p. vi the instructions to collaborators to the Bibliography for 1921, and we hope that our critics will not only send in suggestions, but will become compilers as well. The incompleteness of the present issue is due entirely to a dearth of helpers: it is our eventual aim to build up a strong body of reliable compilers in every country for each of the languages studied there.

The names of the compilers for 1920 are as follow in alphabetical order: Mr A. F. G. Bell, M. Beza, Prof. G. Bonnard, Prof. S. J. Crawford, Sr. Estelrich, Mr J. A. Falconer, Dr B. Fehr, Prof. A. S. Ferguson, Dr F. de Figueiredo, Mr B. J. Hayes, Prof. A. Koszul, Mr P. R. Krishnawami, Miss Ràdmila Lotić, Prof. V. Mathesius, Prof. C. S. Northup, Miss A. C. Paues, Mr E. Allison Peers, Prof. P. Popovič, Mr J. Purves, Prof. L. Schücking, Sr. Solalinde, Miss Zora Vulović, Dr R. E. Zachrisson, Mr R. W. Zandvoort. In addition to these are seven helpers who wish to remain anonymous, including one who kindly undertook to collect the British contributions, and, in addition, in spite of unusual pressure, gave much help with the arrangement of the slips. Should any name have been omitted by inadvertence from the list it will be published in the next issue.

It may not be out of place to give in brief form the aims of our Association and the way in which those who use this bibliography may join it.

The Association was founded on June 1st, 1918, and at present numbers over 600 members. Its main object is the encouragement of advanced study in Modern Languages and Literatures by co-operation, through correspondence, personal intercourse, the interchange of information and counsel, and financial support for students engaged in research. The Association aims at improving and facilitating means and methods, and seeks such a co-ordination of isolated effort that those interested or engaged in the same branch of research shall be kept informed of each other's work, and that unnecessary duplication of energy shall be avoided.

Membership of the Association is open to graduate students of all countries, at the discretion of the Committee. Approved

vi MODERN HUMANITIES RESEARCH ASSOCIATION

Institutions and Associations may become members as well as individuals. A quarterly Bulletin is published, describing the proceedings and activities of the Association; members may also join the Modern Language Association of America and purchase the Modern Language Review at a reduced subscription. Groups of members with similar interests may be formed within the Association.

The M.H.R.A. further: (i) puts members who have interest in cognate subjects into touch with one another through the Secretary; (ii) collects and circulates information and suggestions likely to be of permanent use to research students; (iii) procures specialised information for members who are prevented from making personal investigations; (iv) organises co-operative research on the part of those who have not the opportunities to do much individual work. It hopes, as soon as funds permit, (v) to undertake publication of original work, (vi) to found bursaries and scholarships for the furtherance of its objects.

Persons duly qualified for membership of the Association may become:

1. Ordinary members, if actually engaged in or contemplating research.
2. Associate members, if in sympathy with the aims of the Association, but not personally engaged in research.

The minimum annual subscription for ordinary and associate members is 7s. 6d. (12 francs; $2), payable to the Hon. Treasurer on or before the 1st of October in each year for the academic year ending on the following 30th of September. The Association is federated to the Modern Language Associations of England and America; members of these Associations pay 6s. and $1.50 respectively as their annual subscription to the M.H.R.A.

Applications for membership should be addressed to the Hon. Secretary: E. Allison Peers, M.A., The University, Liverpool.

INSTRUCTIONS FOR COLLABORATORS

1. The first list of books and articles, as complete as possible, is asked for by Nov. 1, 1921. This will enable us to get forward with the bulk of the classification and ensure the early appearance of the work.

2. The second list must be in by Jan. 31, 1922. Notices received after this date cannot be inserted in the 1922 volume, though they will be published in the Bulletin, if space allows, as a supplementary list.

3. The following details should if known be given. Concerning books: Author, full title, no. of pages, size of page (in centimetres), publisher, price. Concerning articles: Author, full title, journal (name, volume, number, date), nos. of pages.

4. It will be very helpful if cards or slips of paper (5" × 3", i.e. 12.5 cm. × 7.5 cm.) are used. One notice only should be written on each.

5. Arrange data thus:

Jones, Henry Charles.

History of English Literature.

ix + 623 pp., 19 × 12.5, Allen and Brown. Edinburgh. 6s. 6d.
 Reviewed by R. C. Smith, Engl. Stud. 54. 3-5.

6. The divisions of subject in this year's bibliography should be followed except as special notice is given.

7. The aim of the Bibliography is to include all serious contributions to the subject. Brief mentions will generally be excluded, and articles which make no pretence at being of a scholarly nature. Where there is doubt collaborators are asked to write the notice, adding a short description of its scope by which the Editors may estimate its worth.

8. Any other concise annotations will be of value: though space may not permit of their publication, they will be available for reference by members wishing to consult them.

9. Work dealing with the influence of English on other languages and literatures or vice versa should be included.

10. The title of any journal which cannot be consulted but is thought worthy of examination should be sent in as soon as possible.

All notices and communications should be addressed to

E. ALLISON PEERS,
 THE UNIVERSITY,
 LIVERPOOL.
