Index of Impaired Persons

This index contains all the persons who are mentioned throughout the book as experiencing some form of impairment. For Roman names, I acknowledge the problem of alphabetic ranking. In fact, a consequent ranking should only be based on the nomen gentilicium. Such would mean that the reader has to search for Cicero under the letter T (Marcus Tullius Cicero) or for Sulla under the letter C (Lucius Cornelius Sulla). The nomenclature of emperors is even more difficult. I have chosen to rank 'famous' Romans with the names by which they are best known in the history books. For those less known, I have used the nomen gentilicium as the criterium for alphabetic listing. I admit that there may be some arbitrariness in such choices. Since the lists per impairment are never exceedingly long, the readers will anyway easily find the person they are looking for. For Greek names, Latin spelling is used throughout.
